Florida State Contractor Class

Your Instructor

John Mills is one of the most licensed and prepared instructors that a student can have. He currently has 27 active licenses that are at the county, state and national level. He has been teaching Mike Holt's State Preparation Classes since 1992, after training with Mike for many years.

John not only knows all the technical aspects of the exam, but he also teaches his students how to approach each section in a systematic way. Taking an exam is more than just the technical questions, he also teaches his students how to really prepare 100% for the mental aspects of taking a rigorous exam.

His warm, energetic and fun personality keeps the intensive program interesting and upbeat. John helps each student feel that they can pass their exams the first time. And when students follow his instructions in class along with the Home-study material that is often what happens – they pass the first time.

He is a Certified Electrical Contractor, Certified Inspector, Plan Reviewer, and CBO. John started in the electrical trade in 1980 as a helper and after attending an ABC Apprenticeship Program, worked his way up to Master Electrician. He has been an instructor for over 30 years, teaching master and journeyman exam preparation courses and Florida State certification courses.

John was born in Westport, Connecticut and has been living in Miami Springs, Florida for the last 40 years. He loves to spend time woodworking, fishing, and building cool bikes with his 4 boys and spending quality time with his beautiful wife Corina.
